

📍 65 Lewis Street, Glenview

Dishing up family appeal on a platter, this property has plenty to offer. A growing or extended family can stretch out in comfort in a tastefully modernised home that spreads its wings over two light-filled levels. The spacious plan of four bedrooms, two bathrooms and living option gives families full flexibility for how they want to live their lives. Adults can relax or entertain upstairs while the children take over the ground floor. The highly adaptable downstairs area lends itself to a study space, TV or games room, or teenager's den. The contemporised open-plan kitchen and dining zone attracts elevated views and seamlessly links to deck and lounge for streamlined living and entertaining. The alfresco gazes across Glenview Park at the rear of the property. Occupants have little to worry about outdoors with low maintenance landscaping and ample on-site parking. The home sits on internal access basement garaging. Lifestyle convenience is hard to fault. Having the park on the back door-step not only provides immediate access to a huge play area, children can walk through it to school. There are bus stops in the street and local shopping centre in walking distance and a brand new playground due to re-open just a few doors down. Glenview is a popular family choice, sought after for its proximity to Waikato Hospital, Hamilton Airport, major transit routes and CBD.
